GETS FIVE YEARS FOR AUTO THEFT

FLOYD WEAVER OF COIN, IOWA,
PLEADS GUILTY TODAY

IT WAS THE GLOVER CAR

Came Here to Steal One, He Admits;
Prisoner's Uncle, City Marshal,
Wins the Rewards

It didn't take a hard struggle to send Floyd Weaver of Coin, Iowa, to the Missouri state penitentiary for five years for stealing a motor car. Weaver, whose second offense of the sort this is, came here from Iowa without an argument, when he might have demanded extradition papers, told Sheriff John F. Dowden exactly how he did it, pleaded guilty willingly to the charge of grand larceny and accepted without question the sentence of five years that Judge John M. Dawson set against him this morning.

All in all, he is about the most satisfactory prisoner that Sheriff Dowden has had anything to do with. The sheriff, who intended at first to take him to the penitentiary tomorrow, has now just about decided to hold him here until the criminal docket is cleared at this session of court, as there may be more to go, and a party trip saves money to the state.

Weaver's offense is the theft of the motor car belonging to Ernest Glover of Maryville, which disappeared from in front of the Electric theatre the night of September 16. Incidentally, Weaver's uncle, who is marshaled at Coin, wins both rewards offered for the car—$150 for the return of the car and $50 for the conviction of the thief.

Weaver told Sheriff Dowden that he came to Maryville from Coin on the night Wabash with the intention of picking up a car. He strolled around the court house square, looking them all over, and finally sat down on a bench on the south side of the court house and selected the Glover car as his prey. He climbed into it and drove away.

The next day Sheriff Dowden heard that a man had stopped at Burlington Junction for oil and gas during the night. The sheriff succeeded in tracing the car as far as Clearmont, but there he lost the trail. Weaver admits that he got five gallons of gasoline and a quart of oil at Burlington Junction and had to awaken the garage proprietor to get it.

Weaver has been working in a garage at Coin. He is 22 years old. His previous offense of stealing a car in Page county several years ago drew him a sentence in the Iowa state reformatory. He served six months of his term and was then paroled.

Night before last Deputy Sheriff Atherton went to Coin with a warrant to get Weaver. Arrests in another state can't be made if the person arrested objects; but Weaver either didn't know this or didn't care. So Atherton piled him in the stolen car and brought him to Maryville.

Now the Glover car has been recovered it remains only to find the stolen Ford of Charles Alexander to make complete the team of cars that the firm of Glover & Alexander possessed until recently.

COUNTY TREASURER STARTS OUT AFTER THE BACK TAXES

About $2,500 Remains Uncollected On Real Estate; Notices Are Being Sent to Those Behind

County Treasurer James Blagg is just getting a good start on his regular October task of clearing up the back-tax books. Assisted by his new secretary, Miss Isabelle Worst of Omaha, Neb., he is sending out notices to those who failed to pay last year, as well as to some whose names have been on the books for several years. So far it has not been necessary to sue.

Uncollected taxes on real estate as reported to Mr. Blagg on April 1, 1919, totaled $5,885.18. He succeeded in clearing up about $2,000 worth of these in April. Pressure of business in the summer caused a slight relaxation in the collection, but a renewed effort now has reduced the total to about $2,500, and Mr. Blagg is hopeful of clearing up much of this.

A penalty of one per cent a month is added to uncollected taxes. No taxes on personal property are included in the list.

COMMITTEE SEEKS LARGER DONATIONS

AMOUNTS REPORTED IN HOSPITAL
CAMPAIGN TOO SMALL

PROSPECT GOOD, HOWEVER

Those Who Can Give $10, $15 or $25
Should Do It, Not Depend On Efforts of Others to Do Work

Although encouraging reports are coming into Maryville headquarters on the county-wide $50,000 drive for funds for the St. Francis hospital, indicating that the sum will undoubtedly be raised, the committee desires to call the attention of all those interested to the fact that small contributions alone will not put the drive over. The population of Nodaway county is about 30,000. Figuring on this basis it will be seen that nearly $2 per capita will be required to raise the sum set as a goal for the campaign now in progress.

Although nearly all the persons who have been approached have shown a willingness to subscribe, according to W. F. Phares of Maryville, chairman of the committee, others are unable to help and others have refused, so that it is necessary for those who care to help to increase their estimate of what they can give. A good many are giving $1, $2, $3 and $5, who just as readily could give $10, $15 or $25 if they felt that this was necessary. It is necessary, says the committee.

Many who have taken out the cards for contributions have failed to turn them in to the canvassers. It is necessary that as many as possible be collected before the end of the week, so that an estimate of the success of the work can be made next week.

A good many large contributions have already been received, but not so many as are possible, the committee believes. No arrangements have been made for daily reports, such as were given in the Liberty Loan drives, and it is to be doubted if definite figures on the campaign will be available before some time next week.

Meanwhile, the committee urges, it is up to each individual to assure himself or herself that the contribution made is as large as can conveniently be spared. This is a matter for the individual conscience. Speed in making and recording the contributions also is desirable.

S. T. C. Force Is In Demand

That the officials and teachers of the State Teachers College are in demand over this part of the country is evidenced by the trips that some of them will make today and tomorrow. President Ira Richardson and Librarian C. E. Wells are driving to Forest City today, where Mr. Wells will assist in classifying the library of the public schools. Warren Breit, well known in Maryville, is a teacher at Forest City. President Richardson will go on to Mound City, where he will speak to night to the members of the Blair community club, meeting at the Blair school south of Mound City. His talk will be on some phase of community work. Tomorrow Miss Mildred Miller will go to Atchison County to speak at a community township meeting at Mrs. Mays rural school building.

Mrs. Earl Henderson returned to her home, 422 East Sixth street, last night after spending a week at St. Francis hospital taking treatment.

APPLICATION OF JOHN BITHOS, A GREEK, IS DENIED

DAY FOR NATURALIZATION

A. A. Thummel Loses On Settlements;
C. C. Graves Wins Suit; L. E. Parker Gets a Hearing

Today was naturalization day in the Nodaway county circuit court, but results were not all as expected.

John Bithos of Maryville, a Greek who owns an interest in the Superior Cleaning Company, found that his application for citizenship was denied on the ground that he had claimed exemption from the draft in the recent war because of being an alien.

The application of John D. Nielsen was dismissed because of a defective petition.

The application of John Duguid Sorrie was accepted.

Rudolph Neidel's application was taken under advisement.

This morning Judge John M. Dawson dismissed the petit jury until next Tuesday. No jury trial will come up before that time.

Augustus A. Thummel of northeast of Parnell lost money when the two suits of the county against him to recover penalties were settled in court this morning. The trouble arose out of an alleged failure to trim a hedge given by the county against him to recover penalties were settled in court this morning. The trouble arose out of an alleged failure to trim a hedge given by the county against him to recover penalties were settled in court this morning.

C. C. Graves of Maryville won his suit for damages against Thomas A. Wiles. After hearing the evidence all afternoon the jury retired and returned with a verdict for the plaintiff for the full $60 sued for. The suit was over an alleged lack of pedigree that caused a loss in the sale of a Jersey cow. The trial occupied nearly all of yesterday.

In the case of the state vs. Ernest A. Riley on a charge of gaming, which was entered yesterday for the first time in the docket, the defendant appeared in court, pleaded not guilty and was released on $200 bail.

In the case of the state vs. L. E. Parker, recently brought here from Des Moines, Iowa, and charged with "enticing and procuring a female person to leave the state of Missouri for purposes of prostitution," the defendant entered a plea of not guilty and was released on bail of $500 to appear for trial next Thursday.

In the case of J. W. Egerly & Company vs. H. W. Weber, a suit on judgment, the defendant defaulted by failing to file an answer, and a judgment for $338.34 was awarded the plaintiff, together with $24.67 attorney fee and costs of 75 cents, with interest at 7 per cent.

The plaintiff, Alva J. Cox, dismissed his suit on contract against Wayne Judah yesterday.

There's Plenty of Time to Put in a Portage Furnace

The Portage Pipeless can be installed in any home that has any kind of a basement or cellar, and can be done in a very short time without tearing the house to pieces. Simply by cutting a hole in the floor and putting in one register and connecting the smoke pipe with the chimney.

It is almost as easy as setting up a stove.

You can heat more rooms with less coal with a Portage Pipeless. In fact it requires about the same amount of fuel that a good heater takes and every room in the house can be comfortable, because the system of radiation drives the cold air out and the warm air in.

The Portage is made by the XXTH Century Furnace Co., has their reputation back of it and is the strongest, heaviest pipeless furnace we know of.

A Portage doesn't cost very much more than a heater—and not as much as two or three heaters. We can put one in on short notice, but you must order at once in order to get it.

TODAY IS ANNIVERSARY OF ARGONNE-MEUSE BATTLE

Last Advance of American Army Begun a Year Ago After an Effective Bombardment

One year ago today the war was beginning to end. All day the progress of the American soldiers continued through what had been the German lines, and by nightfall the reconquest of the Argonne Forest and the territory between it and the Meuse river was well advanced. This is the anniversary of the beginning of the world war—the battle that will go down in American history as the Meuse-Argonne advance.

The ground that the Americans advanced over was well plowed by the record bombardment that had preceded the attack. From about midnight to daybreak of September 26, 1918, the American and French batteries had gunned the German lines that had remained unmoved for four years. It was one of the heaviest bombardments of the war, and for the most part it was effective. The advancing soldiers found that much of the opposition had been eliminated or at least reduced. In only a few instances was determined opposition encountered.

Some of the hardest fighting of that day and of the days that followed it was done by the Thirty-fifth Division, composed of Missouri and Kansas National Guard troops. Tonight, a year after the battle, these soldiers are home and demobilized. A banquet is to be held tonight in St. Louis as a reunion for the men of the Thirty-fifth.

The Eighty-ninth, the selective service division from Missouri and Kansas, did not participate in the opening day of the battle. In the later days it was to do its share and win for itself a record as one of the most effective divisions of the army.
